

English for

Nurses

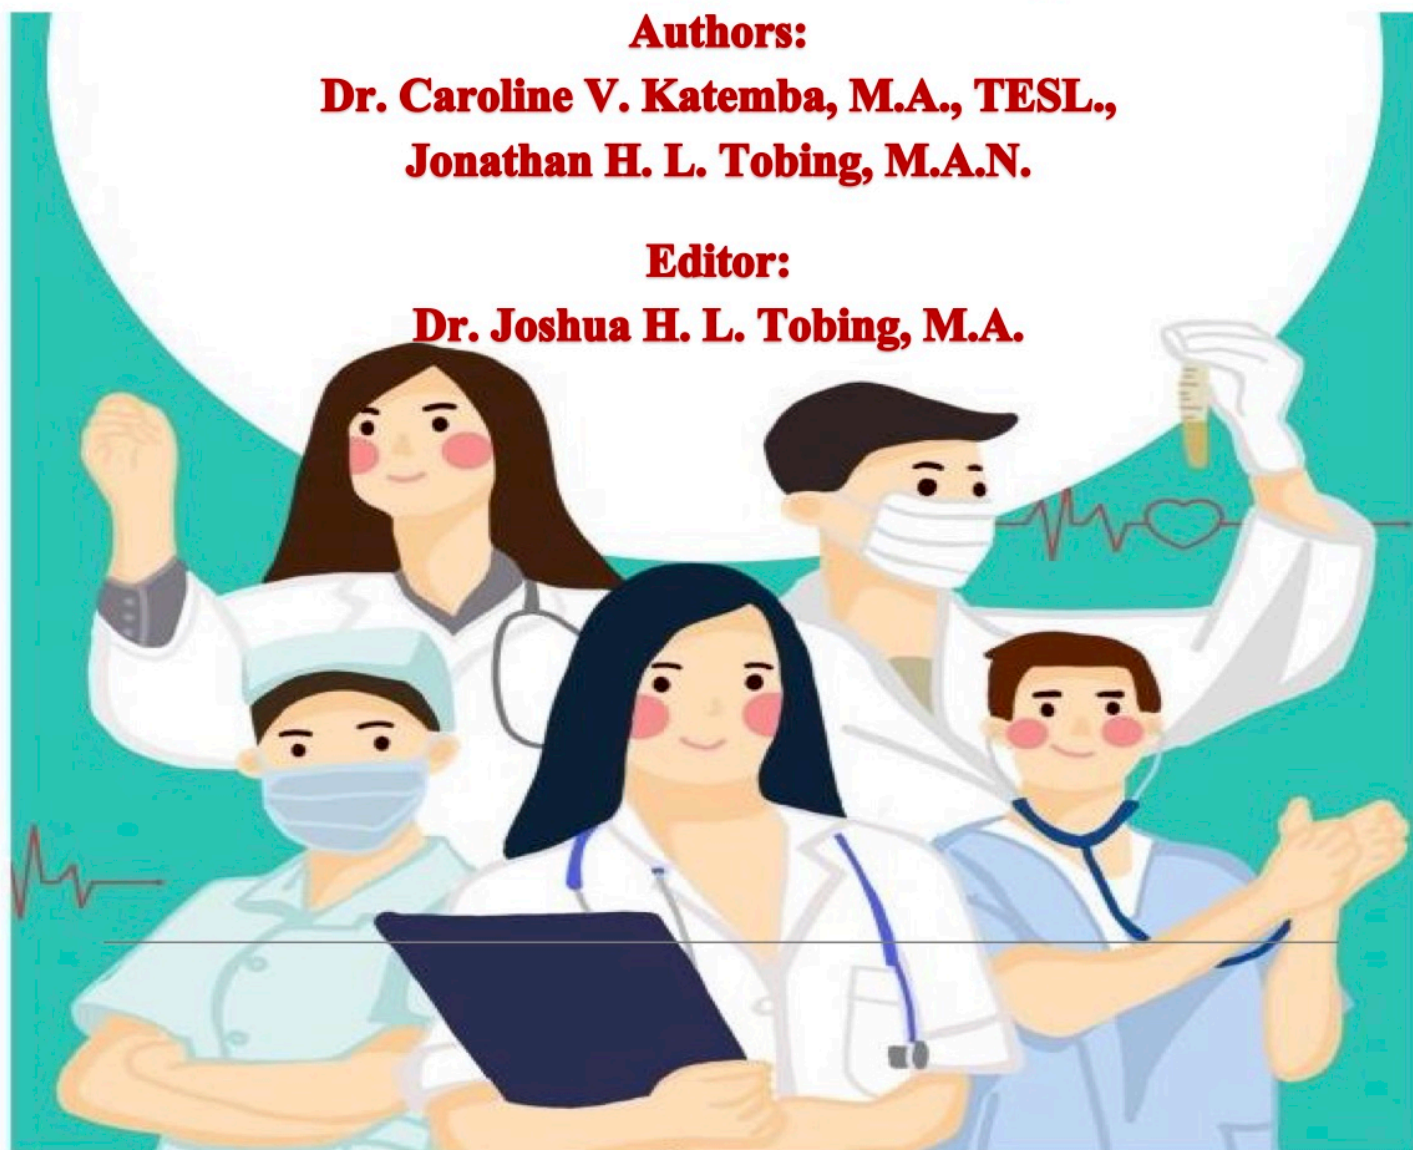

Authors:

Dr. Caroline V. Katemba, M.A., TESL.,
Jonathan H. L. Tobing, M.A.N.

Editor:

Dr. Joshua H. L. Tobing, M.A.

Dr. Caroline V. Katemba, MA, TESL is an Associate Professor in the Faculty of English Education at Universitas Advent Indonesia, Bandung. She has extensive experience in teaching English for business in the Oil Companies in Indonesia such as TOTAL-Indonesia, PETRON, Arun LNG, Mobile Oil, Hubday Oil, and teaching English to the managers, supervisors, employees of the company. She has been involved in curriculum designing and developing training courses in collaboration with the IALF (Indonesia Australia Language Foundation), Arun LNG Company, English Language Training International (ELTI), and SIT (School for International Training), where she taught before. She has experience teaching medical doctors who are going for a short course in Canada under School for International Training programs. She has been a speaker for international conferences in Asia, Russia, and the USA since 1988. She has published research papers in local and international reputable journals index Scopus Q2. She has authored several books such as: Speak Out, Business English, Manual Prosedur Penelitian, Pedoman Penulisan Karya Tulis Ilmia, Skripsi & Tesis. Has experience as chair of the English Education dept., Vice President for Academic Affairs, and taught at Washington Adventist University-Washington D.C, USA. A member of Asia TEFL, Executive Board Committee of several universities in America such as Loma Linda University, California, and Andrews University, Michigan from 2005-2010.

Jonathan H.L. Tobing, M.A.N (Master of Arts in Nursing), is presently a Doctor of Philosophy (Ph.D.) student at St. Paul University, Manila-Philippines. He is majoring in Nursing Education Management. He has his Bachelor in Nursing or Sarjana Keperawatan and Profesi Ners from Universitas Advent Indonesia. He presented his research work at the 3rd International Scholar Conference in 2015, and still actively researching in his area. He started his first education as an elementary student at St Vincent International Elementary Catholic School in Manila-Philippines. He has been exposed to English in his first year of education in the Philippines. He has been traveling and stayed in several countries such as Singapore, Thailand, Malaysia, China, Japan, Guam, Philippines, Netherland, Belgium, Germany, Jordan, Mexico, and the United States of America..

ISBN 978-602-61733-4-8

